FOREWORD

The sole and single purpose of this book is to point out the genealogical and historical value of some of the more important military records of this country. The records that came about as a result of military service, pensions and bounty land warrants, are definitely treated on a limited scale. Without a doubt there are additional records from military service, that have genealogical and historical value, that will not be mentioned or treated in this study. The subject of military records is one of the largest catagories of records in our national history.

It is quite possible that criticism will come because of what has been left out of this book rather than what has been included in the book. A man in military servicemade a number of records other than pension records, bounty land warrants, muster rolls, etc. There is no doubt that the composite of all these many records would make a better genealogical, historical and military record but the scope of this book is limited to a treatise of a few of the better known records recognized for their genealogical and historical value.

My sincere thanks to my friends and professional co-workers in genealogy in Washington, D.C. whose encouragement has made this publication possible.

E. Kay Kirkham

The importance of military records and their contribution to American genealogy cannot be over-emphasized. Experience has demonstrated that when a good American family genealogy is compiled it is done by consulting many sources of information. No one record in America can stand alone as the one record for the complete identification of the individual. The individual can be identified completely when what he did becomes a part of his individual self as much as his name and family. As the personality of an individual is a composite thing, so is the identity of that individual. In the past men have fought for God-given rights and freedom. This is our national heritage. The records that government agencies made as a result of their service to the country - is a vital part of our historical and genealogical heritage.

In Illinois a short time ago a county recorder made the statement to me that his vault contained all the records that had ever been made in that county. This statement was true only so far as the county recorders of the past were concerned. Perhaps the person who made the statement was not mindful of the fact that as the generations of the past have come and gone from his locality that they had gone to church, during their residence there as well as they had gone to the county court house for their legal business.

Perhaps also, the county recorder was unmindful that federal census enumerators had paid decennial visits to the county and had made a record of the people during their visit. Also, what about the men who had left the county to fight for home and country? Defense of the country was a national concern and the nation made the records for that man while he was absent from his home and the county seat. Then to supplement the county and national records we have the records made in the home of the individual. The composite of all the records cannot be more than the record of just who the individual was and what he did.

By deduction we can easily arrive at the conclusion that if one of the records that identifies the individual is lost or destroyed or cannot be located, then there is the probability that other records can be found about the individual. They need not be of necessity in the town, county seat or area in which he had lived.

As we will soon see military records are themselves somewhat of a composite record because recourse to other records about the individual was necessary in order to establish a claim for a pension or bounty land, etc. In the files of pension records and bounty land application files it is common indeed to find certified copies of marriage records, or the marriage certificate itself, or a page from the family Bible and many other unusual records that identify the individual in one way or another. Also, historically, the things that he did are found in the files also.

THE VALUE OF MILITARY RECORDS can be more clearly defined when we observe that verification and certification is required in order to qualify for the benefits, or bounties, of service. In fact, the file that seems to give the most information about an individual, his family, friends, military activities, residences, etc. is the record that is questioned, or disputed, for its authenticity. Large files, two and three folders an inch or more thick, will go into great detail to prove military service, fidelity or infidelity of a surviving widow, insanity and in one instance a total of sixty affidavits to support a claim that a veteran had "sore eyes" as a result of the Civil War.

As a more careful consideration is given to the pension and bounty land warrant application and declaration files it will be noted that the would-be beneficiary is attempting to qualify in one way or another under the provisions of some one particular Act of Congress. This is the essence of any one application. Later on the file will show other applications to qualify under another, and probably a more liberal, act. Until finally the applicant, his widow or heirs, will qualify. The pension and bounty land program of the government was not a static thing but was constantly undergoing changes, revisions, amendments and liberalizations, all seemingly to the benefit of the veteran.

Moreover, it is a fact that a wide variety of information is obtainable from the application files of widows and heirs of servicemen. A widow is required to prove her marriage to the soldier or to have affidavits from clergymen who married them, or supporting testimonials from relatives or friends as to the marriage.

The same is true within the application files of the heirs of soldiers. As a result of the information contributed, family records become more complete and the life stories of soldiers can be added upon. It is not possible to state the limits of information that might be found within a pension file. In consideration of all information, it must be remembered that the OBJECT of the file is to authenticate the qualification of the veteran under the provisions of the Act. This is why, in some application files statements are found to prove that the veteran is necessitous - in dire need - of federal aid. It follows that some of the letters and testimonials (not witnessed or sworn to) were not acceptable to the Commissioner of Pensions as proof, nor might we accept them without verification.

THE HISTORICAL VALUE of the files becomes evident when the applicant, or claimant, must recount his military service by naming his commanding officers, etc. to prove that he was in service. His service is subject to confirmation from government military service records. Unfortunately, many men served without regard to the small, but important, detail of being placed on a muster roll. Others served as scouts and spies for regiments and companies without having been officially enrolled as a militia man. As a result of confirmation of military service there were many "rejected" pension application. However, such pension application will contain considerable genealogical information.

As recounts are made by the veteran serviceman, the history of an engagement is forever retained within the lives of the people who lived through it. Officially, the records lacked the color, drama and imagination as given to them by the combat soldier - who survived. The files remind us that wars have been fought, not only under arduous conditions but by troops who over-ran the crops of the fields, the thresholds of homes - and left indelible memories upon the hearts and minds of the men who faced the enemy, the veterans. It is a pitiful thing to read of a re-told story from a veteran who has lost his clear-cut memory, his discharge papers, his buddies in arms and "no one is now living who can confirm his battle record."

An "abstract" of a file may give but little information.. Actually, there is no substitute for a complete examination of the file by one who not only knows the information he is looking for but where he expects to find it.

The VETERANS ADMINISTRATION, Washington 25, D.C. has records based on service in World War I and II and the Korean War. This agency is not under the War Department and does not have the same restrictions as enforced by the War Department.

The ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE (AGO) as defined in the PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE # 17, 1949, page 1. =

"The Adjutant General's Office is, them, essentially one handling records, orders and correspondence of the Army. To it finally come for custody practically all records concerned with the Military Establishment, including personnel of the Army, both Regular and Volunteer, together with large bodies of other records representing discontinued commands, special collections and non-currant holdings of bureaus of the War Department. The records representing the central correspondence of the Office constitute one continuous series of files from 1800 to date.

(page 2) "... the record keeping of the Office falls into three distinct periods, designated as follows : (1) the "Book Period", 1800 to 1889 during which incoming correspondence was maintained in a letters received file, after being entered in registers of letters received, and outgoing correspondence was copied in letters sent volumes; (2) the "Record Card Period", 1890-1917, during which the information ... was copied on cards and (with other information) to form what was known as the 'document file". (3) The Decimal Classification Period", beginning in 1917."

The WAR DEPARTMENT Revolutionary War records are defined and inventoried in the National Archives and Records Service (General Services Administration) Publication, "WAR DEPARTMENT COLLECTION OF REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS, PRELIMINARY INVENTORY # 144, compiled by Mabel E. Deutrich, Washington, 1962.

The National Archives is a repository for many of our military records. In 1948 a GUIDE TO THE RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES was issued and there have been a number of supplemental accession lists since that time. Also, the National Archives and Records Service (GSA) Washington 25, D.C. has issued several pamphlets of helpful information to genealogical and historical research.

The above pamphlets and the microfilm publication are to be ordered from the Publications and Exhibits Branch, Room G-10, National Archives, Washington 25, D.C. There is no charge for the publications above.

The General Services Administration, National Archives and Records Service, National Archives Building, Washington 25, D.C. performs a public service in providing copies of certain of their records. Their form, # NA-288, ORDER FOR PHOTOCOPIES CONCERNING VETERAN is quoted as follows:

"Fill out this form as fully as you can. As we often have files for several different veterans of the same name, the more information we have, the quicker and surer will be our recognition of the correct file.

"Use a separate form for each veteran.

"Enclose one dollar, preferably a money order or check payable to GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION (as above).

"Some years ago, in order to reduce the cost of our services and to decrease the likelihood of copying errors, we discontinued the practice of transcribing genealogical information from the records and adopted, instead, the practice of furnishing photocopies of the original documents for a fee. This practice has proved, on the whole, satisfactory to our patrons.

"Now, in order to reduce the average amount of fees and to speed up our service, we have installed a flat fee system.

"Please use the reverse of this form to order photocopies of records relating to a person who served in the United States or Confederate Armed Forces. We can furnish photocopies relating to the following subjects:

- a. United States military service before World War I and Confederate military service.
- b. United States (not Confederate or State) pensions claimed on the basis of service before World War I, and
- c. United States (not State) boundy lands claimed on the basis of service before 1856.

"Send us the completed form with one dollar. If you send more than one form at one time, your remittance should be for as many dollars as you send forms. Each order will be handled separately; so you may not received all your photocopies at the same time. Be sure to enter your name and address on each form.

"If we find a file for the person identified by your order, we will send photocopies of the documents we think most likely to be of interest to you. If we do not find a file that we can identify with the person in whom you are interested, we will refund your money."

Note: in placing orders for copies of records be sure to state the kind of record that you are interested in whether it be a military SERVICE record or a military PENSION record.

Throughout the technical treatise of the subject of pensions and military service records, frequent reference will be made to the book by Dr. William Henry Glasson, published by the Oxford University Press, New York, 1918, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Dr. Glasson's explanation of the word pension:

A military pension is a regular payment made by a government to one who has served in its armed forces, or to his widows or dependent relatives. It is a gratuity given to former soldiers or their relatives for reasons satisfactory to the government, whether as compensation for physical injuries, or to relieve want, or purely as a reward. Army pay and pensions are not matters of contract. No claim for a pension can be enforced against the State. In the performance of his duty, a soldier may become the victim of wounds, casualties or disease, but these incidents of warfare give him no right to a pension enforceable against an unwilling government.

"Pensions that have been granted to our former soldiers may be divided into INVALID PENSIONS (or disability pensions) and SERVICE PENSIONS. An invalid pension is one granted to a soldier on account of wounds or injuries or disease contracted in military service. A SERVICE PENSION is granted in recognition of military service for a specified length of time, whether a few weeks or months or many years."

In the explanations that will follow particular attention should be given to whether the text discussion is about PENSIONS or about MILITARY SERVICE, or military service pensions. It is to be remembered that the WAR DEPARTMENT kept its own records in its own way and made indexes for them which covered different periods of years than did those indexes that pertained to pensions as such. While the explanations will be made in the text, the reader should be alerted constantly to this fact. Service records and pension records are different not only in their source as a record but in their genealogical content.

From the book, PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, # 17, Washington: 1949, the following definitions of value in research: "The history and records of the RECORD AND PENSION OFFICE are closely interwoven with those of the ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE. Formed by a combination of a division of the Surgeon General's Office, this unit existed separately from 1889 to 1904, when, as noted above, it was combined with the ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, to form the Military Secretary's Office, which in 1907 became the "Adjutant General's Office." The Record and Pension Office records obtained by this combination now form an integral part of the records of the Adjutant General's Office and are described in this inventory. They are highly significant for historical research and for information concerning the military service of individuals who fought in the wars from the Revolution through the Spanish-American War."

(Page 17) "MUSTER ROLLS, 1784-1912 - A muster roll is a list of all troops actually present on parade or otherwise accounted for, made on the day of muster or review of troops under arms in order to take account of their number, inspect their arms and accoutrements, and examine their condition ... There are several types of muster rolls, including descriptive rolls, muster-in and muster-out rolls(for volunteers only) and the regular muster-for-pay rolls for individuals, detachments, companies and regiments and for field, staff and band.

"A regular muster-for-pay roll includes the names of the personnel of the organization, with names of commissioned officers and noncommissioned officers coming first, followed by names of privates in alphabetical order; the date and place of joining service; by whom enrolled and for what period; the date of muster into service; the date of last pay and for what period, together with the amount received and remarks... which include absentees, desertions and deaths. Muster and descriptive rolls give additional information, including place of birth; age at date of muster; previous occupation; color of hair, eyes and complexion; bounty paid and amounts due and ... remarks.

Perhaps additional explanation is needed to distinguish between MILITARY SERVICE RECORD and PENSION records. From the National Archives and Records Service publication, "Compiled Military Service Records in the National Archives" publication # 63-3, we have the following:

Description of the records - a compiled military service record is kept in a jacket envelope filed with those for other soldiers who fought in the same war and regiment or similar unit. The record consists of (1) one or more card abstracts of entries relating to the soldier as found in original rolls, returns, registers or other records; (2) sometimes documents ... pertaining solely to the particular soldier. The card abstracts of service - if complete - may serve to trace that service from beginning to end, but normally to little more than account for where he was at a given time." The only information of genealogical interest that they are likely to give is his age and place of enlistment. Note: Historically these cards serve the purpose of the history of campaigns.

The contents of pension files as such, are commented upon in several places in this book, examples from the various wars are given, etc.

Other than pensions, bounty land records probably give more information than any other type of record that arises from military service. At the National Archives there is a general index to bounty lands, and while some of the bounty land files have been included in the pension files, this index should still be consulted for the probability of records arising from military service.

To more adequately describe the provisions of the various Bounty Land Acts the following information is taken from the book, ARMY AND NAVY PENSION LAWS, AND BOUNTY LAND LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES, including sundry resolutions of Congress from 1776 to 1854 inclusive. Compiled by Robert Mayo, M.D. and Ferdinand Moulton, Counsellor at Law, II ed., Baltimore, Lucas Bros. 1854.

(Page xxx) "The general subject of land bounties may be subdivided under the following heads, viz.:

- I. Bounty lands granted for Revolutionary services and their considerations connected with the Revolutionary War.
- II Bounty land granted to non-commissioned officers and soldiers for services in the War of 1812, in consideration of enlistments for five years, or during the war; including Canadian refugees, provided for after the war.
- III Bounty lands granted to non-commissioned officers, musicians, marines etc. who served in the Mexican War.
- IV Bounty lands granted for services in various Indian Wars from the year 1790 and for services in the War of 1812 and the War with Mexico, not provided for under the second and third foregoing heads.

I FOR REVOLUTIONARY SERVICE. ... by the resolution of 14 August 1776 in retaliation of the invitation and compulsory measures of the British Government to induce our troops to desert our service, it was promised and promulgated, "that all foreigners who shall leave the service of His Britannic Majesty in America and become members of any of these States, shall be prohibited in the free exercise of the rights, privileges and immunities of the native citizens thereof, as shall leave the armies of His Britannic Majesty in America, and become citizens of these States, unappropriated lands in the following quantities and proportions, viz.:

To a Colonel	1,000 acres	To a Lieutenant	300 acres
To a Lieutenant Colonel	800	To an Ensign	200 acres
To a Major	600	To a non-commissioned and
To a Captain	400	to all others in proportion,	100 acres.

"... and in pursuance of the resolutions of 23 April 1783 and the 7 Apr 1798 lands were granted to Canadian and Nova Scotia refugees, distinguished into several classes, in the following proportions, viz.:

(a) to those of the first class, not exceeding 1,000 acres; (b) to those of the intermediate classes, according to prescribed rules. (c) to those of the last class, not exceeding 100 acres.

"... Under the several resolutions referred to below, officers and soldiers of the U.S. who served to the end of the war, were entitled to land bounty and of those who never received the bounty during their lives their representatives are entitled according to the subjoined rates (list of resolutions noted)

To a Major General	1,100 acres	To a Captain	300 acres
To a Brigadier General	850	To a Lieutenant	200
To a Colonel	500	To an Ensign	150
To a Lieutenant Colonel	450	To a non-commissioned Officer	100
To a Major	400	To a soldier	100
To the director of the medical department,	850 acres;	to the Chief Physician and
Purveyor,	500 acres;	Physicians, Surgeons and apothecaries	450 acres;
regimental surgeons and assistants,	400 acres;	to hospital and regimental surgeon
mates,	300 acres.

II For the War of 1812 = "... five years service, or during the war, etc by the Act of 24 December 1811 ... each of the non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, who enlisted for five years, or for during the war and were honorably discharged and heirs of those who died or were killed whilst in the service, were promised land bounty of one hundred and sixty acres.

"... by the Act of 6 Feb. 1812 ... for certain volunteer corps for twelve months ... 160 acres (later not honored by the government). Under the Act of December 1814, a double bounty of 320 acres was promised ... to those who would enlist and serve in conformity with the provisions of the Act.

"... by the Act of the 5th March 1816, for granting bounties in land extra pay to certain Canadian volunteers, the said volunteers were entitled to land in the following proportions, viz.: To each Colonel, 960 acres; to each Major, 800 acres; to each Captain, 640 acres; to each subaltern officer, 480 acres; to each non-commissioned officer, musician and private, 320 acres. Also to the medical and other staff, the like proportions, according to their rank. (Later the Act of 3 March 1817 changed the above bounties to one-half.)

III For Service in the War with Mexico.

"By the 9th section of the Act of 11 February 1847, "raising for a limited time an additional military force" 160 acres of land, or in lieu of the scrip of $100, bearing interest, was promised ... to non commissioned officers, musicians and privates, who should enlist in the regular army, or volunteer corps, to serve with the War with Mexico. (additions and variations noted later in this Act.)

IV For services in various Indian Wars since 1790, the War of 1812, and in the War with Mexico.

"The Act of 28 September 1850, provides bounty lands for commissioned officers, etc. who served in the War of 1812 and in the War with Mexico ... at the rate of 160 acres or 40 acres according to their respective period of service from 1-9 months.

* * *

The records of our wars have spanned one hundred and eighty-six years, almost two centuries, and it is to be expected that the nature of records changed just as much as the methods of making war have changed. Also, the vocabulary of a hundred and eighty-six years ago is not the same as it is today. Thus it is necessary to review the acts for pensions and bounty lands as well as provide a short glossary of military terms in the appendix of this book. The need for this study became apparent when the historical and genealogical value of the records was evident and the need for a better understanding of them was long over-due.

COLONIAL WARS

I Dates and names of Wars

King William's War - 1690 to 1697 - between England and France.

Queen Anne's War - 1702-1713.

King George's War - 1744-1748 - between England and France.

King Philip's War 1675-1676 - In New England between Indians and the English.

French and Indian War - 1754-1763 - The first fighting took place in America before the war was formally declared in Europe. In 1749 a French expedition under Celoron de Bienville took formal possession of the Ohio Valley. In 1754 Duquesne, Governor of Canada, sent an expedition to build a series of forts and roads into this same territory. In behalf of Great Britain and Virginia, which claimed this area, Governor Dinwiddie, of Virginia, sent George Washington, a young man of twenty-one, to demand that the French vacate. In refusing, the French build the Fort Duquesne on the present site of Pittsburgh, considered then to be the key to the Ohio Valley.

In 1755 General Braddock arrived in America with an army of British regulars. In 1759 the Battle of Quebec was fought. This was the defeat of the French general Montcalm by the British General Wolfe. This battle decided the ultimate fate of New France in America. Although the French and Indian War (between Great Britain and France) started in 1754 in America the British formally declared war on France the 18 May 1756. This war was fought both in America and Europe. In Europe it was known as the "Seven Years War". The war ended in 1763 by the signing of the Peace of Paris. In the peace treaty of 1763 France surrendered to Great Britain all of her possessions on this continent east of the Mississippi River, except the City of New Orleans.

(Page -12) "Many of the English colonies in America had provided for the relief and maintenance of wounded and maimed soldiers. ... in 1636 the Pilgrims at Plymouth enacted in their court that any man who should be sent forth as a soldier and returned maimed should be maintained competently by the colony during his life. (Ply Col Rec. XI, Laws, 106.)

"As early as 1644 the Virginia Assembly passed a disability pension law, and later provided for the relief of the indigent families of the colonies soldiers who should be slain. (Hening's Statutes at Large, i, 287, ii, 331, 347, 440.) We find similar acts among the colonial statutes of Maryland and New York during the later part of the 17th century.

"In 1718 Rhode Island enacted a remarkably comprehensive pension law.

"... nor during the Revolution did the States rely entirely on Congress to take the initiative in granting pensions. Some of them, notably Virginia and Pennsylvania, independently promised liberal allowances to their disabled soldiers. ... this early national law (of August 26, 1776) agreed in principle with the colonial disability provisions which we have already considered. It aimed to encourage enlistment in the Revolutionary Army."

Bounties - Military- "When war forces were raised by volunteering instead of conscription or militia obligations, bounties stimulated recruiting. For Indian and French campaigns, colonies offered cash inducements, sometimes solely to induce enlistments, sometimes for bringing clothing or weapons into service."

Land grants were given to veterans of the French and Indian War by order of the King of England. At least part of these bounty lands were in the present State of New York. Several of the better American History books available have maps and explanations regarding these bounty lands and where they are located, especially in New York State.

INTRODUCTION -C- Location and Availability of Records.

Several of the States have published their colonial records, at least those records that have been retained by the States from the time when they were colonies. Among these States are North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Georgia and possibly others.

It is not known to the author the extent and availability of the records of colonial militia or mercenaries as made and maintained by the British Government. There is at least one publication of British records not available in our original archives here in America. There might be others available in England or in State archives in this country.

THE PERIOD OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, 1776-1811

The Revolutionary War started in Massachusetts 19 April 1775. The Declaration of Independence was at Philadelphia, Pa., 4 July 1776. General Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown, Va. 19 October 1781. Peace treaty was signed in 1783. Of thirteen original States the following were known as slave states: Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia; free states, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania.

A - Provisions of some of the various Acts of Congress.

(Source: FEDERAL MILITARY PENSIONS in the United States, by William Henry Glasson, Ph.D., Oxford University Press, N.Y., 1918.)

Page 20 "With the outbreak of hostilities Congress was petitioned for help and redress to those who had suffered as a result of the war. A committee was appointed to consider proposals for the wounded and disabled. The plan submitted by this committee was adopted by Congress August 26, 1776 and became the first national pension law in the United States. Among other provisions the law promised half pay for life or during disability to every officer, soldier or sailor losing a limb in any engagement or being so disabled in the service of the United States as to render him incapable of earning a livelihood."

Page 21 "On September 25, 1778 Congress again dealt with the matter of invalid pensions and extended relief to those who had been disabled before 26 Aug. 1776 and since the commencement of hostilities, April 19, 1775."

Page 21 "During the progress of the War further provisions for invalids were made by the Act of April 23, 1782."

Page 22 - "The final resolutions of the Congress of Confederation on the subject of invalid pensions were passed on June 11, 1788 ... This was amended later in 1792 and at the time there were 1,500 invalid pensioners on the rolls."

Page 33 "...after many attempts by George Washington in particular, the Congress could not yet be persuaded to promise half-pay for life to officers. But on August 24, 1780 the report ... was again taken up and favorable consideration was given to the claims of the widows and orphans of officers. In 1788 Congress had promised seven years half-pay to officers serving to the end of the war. Now a resolution was adopted granting half-pay for the same length of time to the widows of those officers who had died, or should die thereafter, in the service. If there was no widow surviving, or in case of her death or remarriage, the half-pay was to go to any orphan children of the deceased. This in substance was the first national pension for the benefit of widows and orphans."

Page - 50 COMMUTATION CERTIFICATES were given to officers (2,480) for service in the Revolutionary War but delayed redemption of them and delayed payment of accrued interest, failed to relieve the need of the officers. When most of the survivors of the Revolutionary War were aged seventy or older ... President John Quincy Adams, in his message of December 1827 recommended to the consideration of Congress "the debt rather of injustice than gratitude to the surviving warriors of the Revolutionary War" Congress passed the law of 15 May 1828.

Page 51 "The Act of 1828 granted full pay for life beginning with March 3, 1826, to the surviving Revolutionary War officers in the Continental Line, who had been entitled to half-pay for life by the resolution of Oct 21, 1780.

Page 62 "A number of minor changes in pension laws were enacted between 1800 and 1828.

Page 67 "The Law of 1818 ... provided that every person who had served in the Revolutionary War to its close, or for the term of nine months or longer at any period of the war, on the continental establishment or in the navy, and who was a resident citizen of the United States, and was by reason of his reduced circumstances in life "in need of assistance from his country for support", should receive a pension. The administration of the law was taken before the district judges of the United States or before any court of record of the state or county in which the applicant resided.

Page 71 "Abuses of the pension laws caused a new law to be written in 1820 under which many were stricken from the (pension) rolls.

Page 80 "A new pension bill became law in 1832 which took the form of an extension to additional survivors of the Revolutionary Army of the full pay for life which had been granted by the Act of May 15, 1828 ... under provisions of the new law, the Secretary of War reported that 24,260 persons applied for benefits therefrom ...

Page 93 "After the service pension Act of 1832, there were but few minor provisions for the benefit of Revolutionary soldiers. By Jun 30, 1867 all the Revolutionary soldiers on the pension rolls had died, however during the following years two others were pensioned and Daniel F. Bakeman the last survivor died on April 15, 1869, age 109. In 1869 ... there were 887 Revolutionary War widows on the pension list ... in 1906, 123 years after the close of the Revolutionary War one widow was still on the pension list.

Page 94 "(A summary) "From the invalid-pension resolution of August 1776, to the last provision for widows in March 1878, there was over a century of Revolutionary pension legislation. First invalid-pension laws were passed for the benefit of officers and privates. Service-pensions of half-pay for life were promised to officers who served until the end of the war, but on account of bitter opposition, the officers received instead of the half-pay a gross sum in commutation certificates. In 1818 a precedent was established for service-pensions to volunteer armies by the grant of such pensions to the indigent veterans of the Revolution. A more liberal law was passed in 1832, and service pensions were granted to the Revolutionary War soldiers regardless of income or property. The widows of Revolutionary soldiers (with the exception of widows of officers) received no pension until 1836. As death decreased the number of survivors on the pension roll the laws for the benefit of widows were from time to time made more comprehensive.

"Estimates on the total of Revolutionary War soldiers granted pensions - in 1874 the Commissioner of Pensions reported 20,485 Revolutionary soldiers pensioned under the Act of 1818; 1,200 under the Act of May 15, 1828 and 33,425 under the Act of 1832 or total 55,110.

Page 95 "Elsewhere in the same report the number of Revolutionary service pensions is given as 57,623 (including duplications). Thousands who were pensioned under the Act of 1818 were dropped from the rolls because they were not indigent. The number of original soldiers and sailors claims allowed on account of the Revolutionary War as given in the report of the Commissioner of Pensions in 1915 was 52,504."

Page 98 "Pension provisions for the regular army were included in the Act of 30 April 1790."

"Page 99 "In the United States the retirement system for the officers and enlisted men of the regular army has not been ordinarily treated as a part of the national military pension system."

"When war forces were raised by volunteering instead of conscription or militia obligations, bounties stimulated recruiting. For the Indian and French campaigns, colonies offered cash inducements, sometimes solely to induce enlistments, sometimes for bringing clothing or weapons into service. The practice was adopted during the Revolutionary War by both Congress and the States. In January 1776, $6.2/3 was offered to fill the Canada expedition. In June $10. for 3 year enrollments 'for the war'. To fill militia quotas States offered their own bounties, so that States and Congress bid against one another..."

* * *

Throughout this book will be found reproductions of actual file records from the National Archives. They are reproduced herein so that an individual might see the nature of the records, that they are for the most part in a manuscript form and, more important, the information that they contain. Notice in particular that in any widow's application, or declaration, for bounty land or for pension benefits that she must prove her marriage to the soldier, her husband. To the genealogist note in particular that the PLACE of marriage is given and if there is not a sworn statement by the county clerk of the county where the marriage took place then affidavits must accompany the application to certify to the marriage. Under the reproduced copies of records for the section pertaining to the War of 1812, notice the full page of instruction to one Mary Pugh, widow of Daniel Pugh, and what she must do or comply with in order to establish her proof of marriage.

In other of these reproduced documents, especially the later ones, the veteran is required to list the places of residence since his military duty. Also, in the later documents note particularly that the widow will give her maiden name. These are just a few of the salient and valuable parts of these declarations and applications for bounties from military service.

Just as an example, or sample, of the papers that might be found in a file I have taken the following list from the file of the pensioner Frederick Shaver, # S.(soldier) 32,517. ## THE PERIOD OF THE WAR OF 1812

"President Madison declared war on 18 June 1812 shouting: "On to Canada" This was called also our second War of Independence. The War of 1812 ended with the Treaty of Ghent and signed on Christmas Eve 1814. Everything was restored to what it had been before the war. "We have obtained nothing but peace."

A. Provisions of the various acts for pensions, etc.

(Source: FEDERAL MILITARY PENSIONS IN THE UNITED STATES, by William Henry Glasson, Ph.D. Oxford University Press, N.Y. 1918, Chapter V.)

"... but the enlarging of the military forces of the United States in time of actual warfare caused the broadening and extension of the ordinary pension laws to meet the new conditions in each case and to provide benefits for volunteers and militia.

" Various acts raising troops for the War of 1812 promised to the soldiers enlisting the benefits of the same invalid-pension provisions as had been made for the regular army by the Act of 1802 ... before the Civil War pensions had been granted for life to all surviving War of 1812 widows whose husbands had died as a result of wounds received, or of disability incurred, in service.

"Service pensions on account of the War of 1812 were not granted until 1871 for all sailors and soldiers who had served 60 days and were honorably discharged. Applicants were required to have been loyal during the Civil War and to take an oath to support the Constitution. ... the Act of 1878 abolished the requirement of loyalty during the Civil War.

"The last surviving pensioned soldier of the War of 1812 was Hiram Cronk of Ava, Oneida County, N.Y. He died on May 13, 1905 at the age of 105 years. On June 30, 1916 more than a century after the close of the War of 1812, 115 widows remained on the pension roll.

Among the National Archives Microfilm publications is pamphlet # 313 (an explanation) of the INDEX TO WAR OF 1812 PENSION APPLICATION FILES. This pamphlet lists the roll numbers (for microfilm) for the alphabet A-Z, rolls #1-102. The following is the Preface to this publication of roll numbers and it is reproduced here as a matter of information in general although it is an explanation of the microfilm index itself.

"Reproduced on the 102 rolls of this microfilm publication are the faces of the envelopes containing War of 1812 pension application files. On the face of each envelope are the name of the veteran, the pension claim or file numbers, and other identifying information. In addition there are cross-reference cards for veterans' names that appear under more than one spelling and for names of substitutes who served for another soldier. Since the envelopes and cards are arranged alphabetically by name of veteran, this microfilm serves as an index to the records.

"The pension application files for the War of 1812 are one of several series of records in the National Archives relating to applications for or benefits granted to veterans who rendered military or naval service, or to their survivors. Following the precedent set for Revolutionary War veterans, Congress authorized pensions for those who served in the War of 1812. Congress also passed laws that authorized the granting of warrants for land to those who had served in the War of 1812 and other early wars.

"The pension application files in the War of 1812 series relate to claims based on service rendered between 1812 and 1815. Most of the applications were filed under the acts of February 14, 1871 (16 Stat. 411) and March 9, 1878 (20 Stat. 27). These were the first acts granted pensions to War of 1812 veterans and their surviving widows on the basis of service alone. Earlier acts had provided benefits only for service-connected death or disability. The Act of 1871 granted pensions to surviving soldiers and sailors who had served 60 days in the War of 1812 and had been honorably discharged, or to those who had been personally named in any resolution by Congress for specific service of less than 60 days. The widows of such soldiers and sailors were eligible for pension provided the marriage had taken place before the treaty of peace was ratified on February 17, 1815. The act of 1878 provided pensions for surviving soldiers and sailors of the War of 1812 who had served for 14 days or in any engagement and had been honorably discharged and for their surviving widows. It made no proviso regarding the date of marriage.

"All pensions granted to veterans of the War of 1812 and their surviving dependents before 1871 were based exclusively on service-connected death or disability. The pension provisions already in existence for veterans of the regular and volunteer forces were applied to veterans of the War of 1812 and to their surviving dependents by acts of January 29, 1812 (2 Stat. 794) and April 16, 1816 (3 Stat. 285). Other similar or supplementary acts providing benefits on account of death or disability were passed by Congress between 1813 and 1871.

"If a veteran applied for a pension based on service in War of 1812, his file generally contains, in addition to his name, such information as his age, place of residence, and service data including dates, places of enlistment and discharge, organization and rank. In addition there are reports by the Adjutant General and the 3rd and 4th Auditors of the Treasury verifying the military or naval service of the veteran. Similar information is contained in the widow's application file, which also generally shows the widow's age and maiden name, the date and place of marriage, and the date and place of the veteran's death. The file will contain all pension applications that were based on the service of the same veteran in the War of 1812. For example, if both applied for benefits, it will contain the application of the widow as well as of the veteran. Some of the bounty-land warrant applications files, which contain similar information, have been consolidated with the pension files.

"The amount of information shown on the envelope varies considerably. On each envelope are the name of the veteran, the name of the widow if she applied, the pension claim or file number or numbers, and some indication either of the type of service or of the organization in which the veteran served. Many of the envelopes also give certain personal identifying data about the veteran and/or his widow. Information given in the upper right-hand corner of some envelopes relates to applications for bounty land. A file, however, may contain bounty-land applications even though there is no such indication on the envelope.

"The pension and bounty-land warrant application files, the envelopes of which are reproduced in this microcopy, are part of a body of records in the National Archives designated as Record Group 15, Records of the Veterans' Administration. In the same group there is a series of bounty-land warrant application files that include a considerable number of applications based on War of 1812 service that were not consolidated with the pension applications. There is also a series of "Old Wars" application files relating to claims based on death or disability incurred in service in the early wars. In this series are a few files of Regular Army soldiers whose service included the War of 1812, but began before 1812 or continued after 1815.

"There are related files in other record groups in the National Archives. In record group 94, Records of the Office of the Adjutant General, are compiled service records of volunteer soldiers and also records relating to soldiers who served in the Regular Army. Records relating to naval and marine service during the War of 1812 are included in Record Group 45, Naval Records Collection of the Office of Naval Records and Library, and Record Group 127, Records of the United States Marine Corps. The original warrants issued to veterans under the military bounty-land warrant acts are in Record Group 49, Records of the Bureau of Land Management."

THE PERIOD OF THE WAR OF 1812

C. Use and availability of the records.

For those persons who correspond with the National Archives for military information it is suggested that you follow the instructions on pages "C" and "D" of the Introduction. Otherwise searchers must go to the Central Search Room of the National Archives, secure a searcher's pass, and thereafter use the microfilm index for this war as explained on the last few pages.

Also, there are a number of published lists for veterans of wars as found in the larger libraries. Once you have secured the identifying information from these published lists you may thereafter enquire for the records that were made as a result of his military or naval service.

It should also be mentioned here of the availability of the following records as found in the National Archives as identified in the PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, # 17, 1949, page 100,

"CARDED RECORDS, VOLUNTEER ORGANIZATIONS; War of 1812 ... jackets showing name of soldier, organization and rank, and containing cards on which information relating to the individual obtained from muster rolls, pay rolls, and various other original records has been copied. Personal papers, if any, are filed in smaller jackets and included in the main jackets.

"Indexes to the carded records, volunteer organizations: War of 1812, giving name of soldier, organization, and rank, together with cross-reference information. Arranged in two files: (1) General alphabetical index and (2) an alphabetical index for each State, U.S. Volunteers, Indians, Prisoners of War, Quartermaster Department and Spies. The first index includes all the names appearing in the second.

Note: Only the index to the above is available in the Microfilm Reading Room, National Archives. The records are available through the Military and Navy Service Branch (Military Service Records), Room 7-W, National Archives,

* * *

On the four pages that follow are reproduced original records from the files of the War of 1812. Notice that the first two are for the veteran and his widow. Note that the marriage information is in the widow's application. Note also that the #3 document for Mary Pugh has required an additional statement for proof of marriage and that the document #4 shows the manner in which this might be secured by the applicant. The form also indicates other records that might be found in other files in order to meet this requirement. These documents are not complete but rather the most part of the first page of the application.

The PERIOD OF THE INDIAN WARS

A. Provisions of the acts, etc.

Source: FEDERAL MILITARY PENSIONS IN THE UNITED STATES, by William Henry Glasson, Ph.D. Oxford University Press, N.Y. 1918, page 114, as follows:

"Many of these armed conflicts with hostile Indian tribes have been of sufficient importance to be termed wars. It has been the custom of Congress to extend the benefits of existing pension laws to soldiers disabled on such campaigns and also to the widows and orphans of the slain."

"... an early example of such provisions for those engaged in fighting hostile Indians was the Act of 1812 for the relief of officers and soldiers who served in General Harrisons campaign on the Wabash, the victors of the Battle of Tippecanoe. From that time down to the Civil War the benefits of the invalid-pension laws were frequently extended to those engaged in putting down Indian insurrections in Florida, Illinois, Wisconsin and other States.

"Service-pensions were not granted on account of the Indian Wars until the passage of the Act of July 27, 1892. This measure was for the benefit of those "who served for 30 days in the Black Hawk War, the Creek War, the Cherokee disturbances or the Florida War with the Seminole Indians between 1832-1842 and were honorably discharged.

"An Act of June 27, 1902 extended the benefits of the above law to the surviving officers and enlisted men who served thirty days or more under the U.S. Military, State, Territorial or Provincial authorities in a considerable number of Indian Wars fought between 1817 and 1858.

B. Bounties for military service, etc.

Note: this subject is treated at length in the Introduction, page "g".

C The Use and Availability of the Records.

By correspondence these records are available through the instructions as given in the Introduction pages "c" and "d" and the use of the form NA-288. Otherwise, the indexes are available through the Microfilm Reading Room, Central Reading Room, second floor, National Archives.

However, from the publication, PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, #17, Washington, 1949, the following carded records are available through the Military and Navy Service Branch (Military Service Records) Room W-7, second floor, National Archives Building. The records described as follows ARE NOT on microfilm and constitute a military-service type of record and not a pension-type of record.

Page 101 " Indian Wars, 1817-1858, Carded Records, Volunteer Organizations, ... jackets showing name of soldier, organization, and rank and containing cards on which information from returns, muster rolls, pay rolls, and other records was copied relating to the military service of the individual... Very few personal papers are to be found in this file. Arranged by State, thereunder by wars, (including Florida Wars, Black Hawk War, and others), thereunder by organization and thereunder alphabetically by name of the soldier.

"... included in this file and similarly arranged are the carded records for a few organizations such as the Battalion of the United States Volunteers, engaged in the "Utah Expedition, 1857-58", and the New York and Michigan Volunteer organizations that did boundary duty during the Canadian "Patriot War", 1838-39.

"... Index to (above) records (Indian Wars, 1817-58) ... give name of soldier, name of war in which individual had service, organization, and rank. Arranged alphabetically in two files; (1) General Index containing all the names of persons serving in the various Indian Wars and (2) indexes arranged under each State that furnished troops separately for each war. The general index contains all the names appearing in the State indexes .. including the Utah Expedition and the Patriot War.

EXAMPLES OF RECORDS on the following pages:

To acquaint the researcher with the general nature of the files for this war, examples of the first page only of three files are given. Note that pages, or examples, #2 and #3 are for the husband (in his lifetime) and the widow's application after his death. Note also that Richard Presley states where he has lived since leaving the service. Here it states State only but commonly it names city and county of former residence.

Example #1 is of particular interest to the author inasmuch as it is the first page of the Indian War application of his grandfather. Later this application was "rejected" because he could not prove that he was in this war. The applicant explains to the Commissioner of Pensions that, at the time, the soldiers in the local militia were more interested in defending their homes and families than they were in being placed on the muster roll of the militia. He told me many true-life stories from this war and his part in it.

CHAPTER V
THE PERIOD OF THE MEXICAN WAR

15

Mexican War: 25 April 1846 to 2 February 1848. The annexation of Texas was equivalent to a declaration of war against the Mexican Republic. In the treaty that was signed, not only did our government gain the disputed area on the Rio Grande and Nueces Rivers, but also the vast Mexican Cession which included the present day California, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and parts of Colorado and Wyoming. In return Mexico was paid $15,000,000 and some $3,000,000 of her debts were assumed by the United States.

A - Provisions of the acts, etc.

(Source: FEDERAL MILITARY PENSIONS IN THE UNITED STATES by William Henry Glasson, Ph.D. Oxford University Press, N.Y. 1918.

"When the war broke out in 1846 between Mexico and the United States, an Act of May 13, 1846 authorized the President to raise volunteers for the prosecution of the war. A section of this act promised to the volunteers, who should be wounded, or otherwise disabled in the services, benefit of the same pension provisions as were in force for regular troops. ... in 1858 the half-pay of widows was extended for life and of orphans until they reached the age of 16 years. At the time of the Civil War invalid pensions were granted for service in the Mexican War on the same basis as for service in the War of 1812 and the Indian Wars.

"... the advocates of service-pensions on account of the Mexican War finally achieved success in the passage of the Act of January 29, 1887. This law applied to persons who being duly enlisted actually served 60 days with the army or navy of the United States in Mexico, or on the coasts or frontiers thereof, or in route thereto, in the war with that nation, or were actually engaged in said war and were honorably discharged, and to such other officers and soldiers or sailors as may have been personally named in any resolution of Congress for any specific services in said war, and the surviving widows of such officers and enlisted men.

"Survivors of the War with Mexico were granted age and service pensions by the Act of Feb. 6, 1907. The length of service required was 60 days with an honorable discharge."

The PERIOD OF THE MEXICAN WAR

C. The Use and Availability of the records.

By correspondence the records are available through the instructions given on pages "c" and "d" of this book and the subsequent use of the form NA-288.

At the National Archives the records are available in the Microfilm Reading Room, Second Floor. The Record Group #15 is for the pensions of this war that were filed between the years 1887 to 1926. These two statements pertain to the indexes only. After the proper file numbers have been secured, the records are available through the Reference Desk, Central Search Room.

The above index to Mexican War pensions includes also the pensions for the so-called "Mormon Battalion". The service records of this battalion are available on microfilm but the pension files have not been microfilmed. However, an index to the service and pension records of this battalion will be published by Mrs. June B. (Florian) Thayn of 2708 Cheverly Avenue, Cheverly, Maryland. The index is expected to be ready for purchase about August 1st, 1963.

From the publication PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, #17, Washington, 1949, page 102 the following is extracted:

"Carded records, volunteer organization, Mexican War ... jackets giving name of soldier, organization, and rank and containing cards on which information relating to the individual's military service, taken from original records such as return and muster rolls, has been copied. The jackets contain very few personal papers in contrast to the carded records for the Civil War.

"... index to the carded records, volunteer organization, Mexican War. Card showing name of soldier, organization and rank. Arranged in one alphabet by name of soldier.

Note: at present only the Mormon Battalion portion of these carded service records are available on microfilm. Otherwise the records are available through the Military and Navy Service Branch (Military Service Records) Room W-7, second floor, National Archives.

Union States: Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Oregon, California, Kansas. Confederate States: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas. ## A - Provisions of the Pension Acts. (Union or federal forces)

Source: FEDERAL MILITARY PENSIONS IN THE UNITED STATES by William Henry Glasson, Ph.D. Oxford Press, N.Y. 1918.

Page 125: "In passing the Act of 1862, Congress founded what has been called in the Bureau of Pensions the "General Law pension system". This was the only system of pension laws in force applying to the Civil War until 1890.

"It provides pensions for soldiers who had incurred permanent bodily injury or disability in military service after March 4, 1861. The claimant must show that his disability was incurred as a direct consequence of the performance of his military duty. This system also provides for the widows, children and other dependent relatives of soldiers who died in actual military service, or, after the close of hostilities, from causes which can be directly traced to injuries received or disease contracted while in military service.

"... another system of pensions was inaugurated in 1890 for the benefit of the veterans of Civil War and their dependent relatives.

"... in many ways the pension law of 1862 was epoch making. Mothers and orphan sisters had never before been provided for in our national legislation.

"The Act of July 14, 1862 provided ... if a deceased soldier left neither widow or child, certain other dependent relatives were eligible in succession to receive the pension of $8.00 per month. The order of precedence was ... first mothers; second fathers; third orphan brothers or sisters under 16 years of age who were to be pensioned jointly if there were more than one.

"... a widow who had lost her pension by reason of remarriage may even be restored to the pension roll when she again becomes a widow."

* * *

Note: as strange as it may seem, surviving dependents of CONFEDERATE soldiers did receive benefits of our national government. See Act of Congress June 17, 1957 Vol 1 Stat. 107; Act of Congress May 23, 1958, Vol 72, Stat. 133.

B Bounties from Civil War Service.

Note: Bounty land was not given for military service " Laws passed by Congress between 1796 and 1855 also authorized the granting of warrants of land to those who had served in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, Indian Wars, and the War with Mexico and also for services ... until March 22, 1852.

CHAPTER VI
THE PERIOD OF THE CIVIL WAR

C. The use and availability of the records.

By correspondence, the pension and military service records of the Civil War are available for the Union forces through the National Archives and Records Services (GSA) National Archives, Washington 25, D.C. As stated on pages "c" and "d" of the Introduction, pamphlets are available that give correct instructions and procedures for ordering copies of the records.

At the National Archives Building, Washington D.C. the General Index to Union pension records is contained in Record Group #15, Microfilm Reading Room. This same index contains also the pension references for the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection and other qualifying wars of the period.

From the book, PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, #17, Washington, 1949, page 102 we quote as follows:

"Carded records, volunteer organizations, Civil War... (have) jackets containing cards on which information relating to the individuals, companies, and regiments of the Volunteer Service of the United States during the Civil War has been copied from original records such as muster rolls, returns, descriptive books, and morning reports. Personal papers consisting chiefly of enlistment papers, substitute certificates, casualty sheets, death reports, prisoner of war papers and miscellaneous correspondence relating to the individual are filed either in the jacket with the carded records relating to the individual ... or alphabetically by soldier's name.

"General Index, volunteer organizations, Civil War. Index cards, giving name of soldier, organization and rank, together with cross-reference information if the individual belonged to more than one organization during his military service. The great portion of this index is arranged alphabetically by State, thereunder alphabetically by soldier's name. . ."

Note: there is also an index to Staff Officers, Civil War, arranged alphabetically by name of officer. Also, these two indexes are not now available on microfilm but are in the process of being microfilmed.

As to the availability of lists of soldiers of both the Union and Confederate forces a great many partial lists by county, city, state, etc. have been published and are available through general libraries.

* * *

In the Introduction on pages "c" and "d" are listed several publications available pertaining to the services of the National Archives. In particular they have issued a pamphlet # 60-10, RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES RELATING TO CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS. This pamphlet explains in detail the history of the accessioning of the records to the National Archives, their genealogical value and availability through correspondence and in person at the Archives.

Note also, in the appendix of this book there are several pages given to the availability of Confederate records through State agencies.

Also, keep in mind when reading the instructions pertaining to Confederate records that military service records, and in particular for the Confederacy, contain little or no genealogical information.

The National Archives and Records Service, (GSA) has issued a pamphlet accompanying a printed index to these Confederate SERVICE records, entitled Microcopy # 253, CONSOLIDATED INDEX TO COMPILED SERVICE RECORDS OF CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS. This General Index has 535 rolls on microfilm available for direct searching, Microfilm Reading Room, National Archives. For a more detailed explanation of the contents of this index you may wish to request, without cost, a copy of this pamphlet.

C Examples of records

For a Union veteran, on the following three pages are reproduced but three pages of information from the pension file. As stated previously, many of these files are filled with genealogical information and contribute generously to the family genealogy and history. Many files were disputed by the Commissioner of Pensions and required affidavits for proof of all kinds. Herewith is reproduced a copy of a Family Bible record. The three files, soldier, widow and the Bible record give some idea of what might be found in a Union Veteran file.

THE SPANISH -AMERICAN WAR

"Spanish-American War: War was declared by Congress 19 April 1898. This war lasted 115 days. Manila in the Philippines surrendered on 13 August 1898; Santiago, Cuba, surrendered 17 July 1898; Puerto Rico surrendered 21 July 1898. As a result of this war the Islands of Philippines, Puerto Rico and Cuba were annexed to the United States as territories. United States paid twenty million dollars to Spain for the Philippine Islands."

A. Provisions of acts -

Source: "Federal Military Pensions in the United States" by William Henry Glasson, Ph.D., Oxford University Press, N.Y. 1918.

Page 145 " Since the general law pension system extends indefinitely forward in its application, there was no need of new invalid-pension legislation for the war with Spain and the Philippine Insurrection. The liberal system of provisions for disabilities originating in actual military service, which had been developed in the thirty-three years since the Civil War, applied at once to the soldier and sailor engaged in the hostilities with Spain."

B. Bounty land provisions: none.

C. Use and Availability of records

The War Department has placed a general restriction on its military records that date from 1788, or 75 years. However, the Veterans Administration has a compilation of records, called the "Old War" Index to pension files available through the Microfilm Reading Room, National Archives.

In the book, PRELIMINARY INVENTORY OF THE RECORDS OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, # 17, Washington 1949, page 103, there are several paragraphs that give information pertaining to the CARDED military service records of this war.

Appendix # 3 "A Special Census of 1890"

Note: This census is of special value for this period in the national history inasmuch as the regular 1890 census of the population was destroyed. This census is available on microfilm at the National Archives, Microfilm Reading Room, second floor, Record Group #15 - M - 123.

The Act of March 1889, establishing a census office in the Department of Interior, provided that the Superintendent of Census, in taking the 11th census, should "cause to be taken on a special schedule of inquiry, according to such form as he may prescribe, the names, organizations and length of service of those who had served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States in the War of the Rebellion, and who are survivors at the time of said inquiry and the widows of soldiers, sailors, or marines . . .".

"The work of the enumerators, which was begun on the first Monday of June 1890, was completed by July 1st of that year.

"The original census enumeration was transferred by the Superintendent of Census to the Commissioner of Pensions. (Act 21 April 1894) Under the Act of Congress, 3 July 1930 these schedules were transferred to the Veteran's Administration where they remained until their transfer to the National Archives on March 24, 1943.

"... for States of Kentucky through Washington, D.C. (included as miscellaneous are California and Kansas and others) bundles # 1-53 containing practically all of the schedules for the States of Alabama thru Kansas and approximately half of those for Kentucky appear to have been misplaced or destroyed prior to the transfer of the remaining schedules to the National Archives ... within each State schedules are arranged numerically by supervisor's districts and thereunder alphabetically by name of county, with the exception of the bundle containing the schedules for Oklahoma and Indian Territories (roll #76) which is arranged numerically by enumeration district.

"Each special census, consisting of four pages contains space for fifty entries. On the upper half of each page are included the name of the veteran, or if he did not survive, the names of both the widow and her deceased husband; the veteran's rank, company, regiment or vessel, date of enlistment, date of discharge, and length of service and street address of each person listed, disability incurred by the veteran and miscellaneous information.

"Persons who enlisted and served under assumed names, and afterwards assumed their lawful names, are listed under their real names followed by their aliases. In a few cases names of Confederate veterans were recorded inadvertently."

(Note: Obviously, the census pertained only to the Union Army survivors.)

APPENDIX # 4 - INFORMATION REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE RECORDS, etc. of the Confederate States of America.

Note: The information contained in this survey was obtained by correspondence in February 1961. A letter of inquiry was sent out that requested information to determine to what extent any one State provided assistance to its veterans of the Civil War. Specifically, reference was made to service pensions, invalid pensions, pensions to widows and dependent children. From the replies received, the following information has been abstracted and presented alphabetically by States.

ALABAMA Information furnished by:

Department of Pensions and Security, State of Alabama
Administrative Building, 64 North Union Street,
Montgomery 4, Alabama.

"The State of Alabama does provide for Confederate pensions.

"Alabama does, however, provide Confederate pensions to certain of the widows of Confederate veterans.

"Alabama has no provision for Confederate pensions to the children of a Confederate veteran.

"The official files on service records of Confederate veterans are maintained by the Alabama Department of Archives and History located at Washington Avenue, Montgomery, Alabama. Except for information about service records, we shall be glad to have you contact this office if additional information is desired about the Confederate pension program in Alabama."

ARKANSAS Information furnished by:

Department of Public Welfare, State of Arkansas.
Little Rock, Arkansas.

"Yes, Arkansas did provide assistance to veterans of the Civil War. In fact, the Welfare Department still pays a Confederate Only pension and a Confederate Old Age Assistant grant to widows of soldiers of the Civil War."

"The central archive for this information is: Arkansas History Commission, Old State House, Little Rock, Arkansas."

FLORIDA Information furnished by:

State Board of Pensions, State of Florida.
Tallahassee, Florida.

"The State of Florida has provided over the years pensions to qualified Confederate veterans ... there are no provision for children of the Confederacy.

"The State Board of Pensions Office is located in Room 101, Carlton Bldg. Tallahassee, Florida, and it is in this department that records of pensioners who have applied and received pensions are kept ... also rejected pensions.

"For your information the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints of Salt Lake City, microfilmed, some years ago, all the available pension records on file at that time, and it is my understanding that they are on file at Salt Lake City."

GEORGIA Information furnished by:

Department of Archives and History,
1516 Peachtree N.W. Atlanta 9, Georgia.

"The State Division of Confederate Pensions and Records was abolished Jan. 1, 1961... and all historical military and pension records transferred to the Department of Archives and History.

"Military records inherited from the abolished department are filed by regiments and companies. In requesting information please state company, regiment and branch of service; whether Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, State Militia, Reserves, etc. It is also helpful to know the county of residence of the soldier when he enlisted, rather than where he enlisted.

"Pension records are filed as they were originally created by year, beginning in 1879 when the first law for providing for pensions of Georgia Confederate soldiers was passed. Under each year there are separate county files and in these files is listed alphabetically the pensioner's name. We must know:

1. the year the soldier or widow applied for pension.
2. the county in which the pensioner made his or her application.

"No family statistics are available. The Archives has no facilities for genealogical research. We can refer you to professional genealogists."

Note: see Miss Lillian Henderson's publication, ROSTER OF CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS OF GEORGIA, 1861-1865, in four volumes.

KENTUCKY Information furnished by:

Department of Finance, Commonwealth of Kentucky.
Division of Accounts,
Frankfort, Kentucky.

"The Commonwealth of Kentucky is paying the needy widows of Confederate veterans a pension. There is no direct program for aid to dependent children of these veterans.

"The best source of information on records may be obtained from the Office of Adjutant General, Department of Military, Record Section, Frankfort, Ky. Other sources: Kentucky Historical Society, Frankfort, Kentucky."
